ATLANTA:

Friday Morning, June 5, 1874.

BREVITIES.

Gold closed in New York at 11 1/2.

Cotton closed in New York to-day at 13 3/4-18 3/4; in Liverpool at 8 3/8-8 1/2.

Thomas A. Scott will be fifty years old in December.

Jean Ingelow says that "children receive the love of one generation, and pay it to another."

Oregon boasts that it has never had a breach of promise suit within its borders.

The Emperor of China has commanded a production of Chinese poems from the earliest times to be made. The collection will be published in 200 volumes. The Emperor possesses a library of more than 400,000 volumes.

A lady is now captain of a schooner plying between Jacksonville and St. Augustine.

Matt Carpenter's arrival for the Wisconsin Senator is said to be O. H. Waldo, of Milwaukee.

The Baltic arrived all safe and sound at Queenstown Sunday night, and Mr. and Mrs. S. were "at home."

A wildcat shipped by Mrs. Gen. Curtis to Central Park, New York, escaped from its cage in the United States Express office at 10 o'clock this morning. A sponge with chloroform subdued the beast, and it was secured.

Zach Parker's return to the Senate is to be hotly contested it is said. His term expires with this Congress. A convention of all the elements in opposition to him and the Republican party has been called for August 6.

Fifteen thousand dollars have been invested in orange lands on Orange Lake in the last week or two.

A physician of skill and experience says that a man should not be married with hot water, but with white eggs; and when so prepared does his duty as a counter-irritant without producing the anguish of a blister, as in the old method.

It is a beautiful sight to attend an Arizone wedding. The bride in white—the happy groom—the solemn minister—the simple ceremony, and from twenty-five to forty shot guns standing against the wall ready for use, make up a panorama not soon forgotten.

Out of ninety-seven aspirants for military honors of West Point thirty-two were sent back to school on Friday because they could not write, spell, or cipher, or were not familiar with maps or grammar, and were given no opportunity upon the educational system of the country in its elementary stages. The colored candidates all failed.

A little social war is now riving in Paris, on the subject of equality at the dinner table. Hitherto it has been the custom of the host to select the most distinguished of his guests for the chief seat, and to give the others a place that all should be on a footing of the most perfect equality, and that each guest should be at liberty to select a companion of congenial taste from among those present.

A young couple ten years ago agreed to disappear in New York, and corresponded some months, journeyed on to this city to meet the Adolphus of her mature dreams, and found in him the Ishahod of her early days. They had lied so faithfully in their letters and so unanimously that neither had discovered the other's identity.—N. Louis Republican.

EXECUTIVE ORDERS were yesterday issued for the election of officers of the "Buller Light Infantry," at Quittman, Brooks county, and the "Constitutional Guards" at Taylor's Creek, Liberty county.

CARPET-BAK DORSEY, of Arkansas, recently had the misfortune to lose a little girl, his only child. He must have had a full view of the handwriting on the wall, for he carried the remains of his lost child to his real home in Oberlin, Ohio, for interment.

PRESIDENT GRANT, Governor Dix, and Secretaries Fish, Boknap and Robeson assisted in the laying of the corner stone of the new Museum of Natural History, to be erected on Manhattan Square, at Eighth Avenue and Seventy-ninth streets, in New York. The great fire-proof building is to be erected in sections, only one of which will be completed at present. The whole structure will be twenty-five feet longer than the Capitol at Washington, and will cost $8,000,000. The scientific acquisitions of the society are already immense, and will soon be the pride of the whole country.

The Duchess of Edinburgh has had a lively dispute with her mother-in-law. The Queen tried to give her youngest daughter, the unmarried Princess Beatrice, precedence over the daughter of the Czar. The latter appeared from this decision by refusing to attend the Queen's levees. The master became a great scandal, and to stop it the Queen was compelled to yield to her determined daughter-in-law. Henceforth the Duchess of Edinburgh will be second only to the Princess of Wales, and will style her "Imperial and Royal Highness." The Russian girl has thoroughly conquered the British Lion in her sphere.

Tim Arkansas "martyrs" who are hanging around Washington, under the leadership of the late lamented and impeached Chief Justice McClure, are having a sorry time of it. Clayton and Dorsey induced the House to appoint an investigating committee to proceed to Arkansas at once, and the outraged patriots intended to accompany them for the purpose of saying what they could from the wreck of their sinful schemes. But Mr. Woodward of the committee is absent, Mr. Taylor is sick, the aged chairman, Judge Poland, is disposed to put off the troublesome trip until the cool weather of fall, and the other two members are rats, who are in no hurry to go.

Lyman Horner Recounts

New York is intensely agitated over the presence of the hero of New Orleans, the rash and dastardly journals of Parisian boulevardism. This famous man goes back to the Continent to fulminate new popular appeals to the complexities of French politics; and on that account a sketch of his meteoric career may not be entirely uninteresting. He has courage and even genius, and emulated him as he was in the lower world, but his country will be a sorry refuge for the insecure. Marshal President much trouble, despite his half million of bayonets. Rochefort's base will probably be in Switzerland, visiting the Empire it was once in Belgium.

This daring assailant of the Emperor was the illegitimate but legally-recognized son of the Count de Lucy, a legitimist whose fortune disappeared with the downfall of the Bourbons. First a medical student, then a doctor, and then a contributor to Charivari, the son at length became an editor of Figaro. In less than a month afterwards he was a notary, and in six months a celebrity. His articles had seldom a trace of common sense in them; they were in one dash of wit and sarcasm from beginning to end, and that was what the Parisians wanted in the waning days of Napoleon's power.

Figaro, of course, got into water, and its proprietor was compelled to part with the dowry of the Empress. It was a medical student, then a doctor, and then a contributor to Charivari, the son at length became an editor of Figaro.
